A spacious and versatile dormer-style detached home, tucked away in a quiet cul-de-sac on Ensleigh Close, Burton Latimer, offering generous accommodation, a beautifully established garden, and excellent potential for modernisation.

Built circa 60 years ago, this attractive home sits behind a low-level wooden fence with gated access opening onto a paved driveway, providing off-road parking for multiple vehicles. A small lawned frontage adds to the welcoming approach, leading to an entrance porch with access into the main living space. The ground floor accommodation is centred around a generous L-shaped lounge/diner, offering a flexible and sociable layout. The lounge area enjoys a pleasant front aspect via a large window and features a fireplace as a focal point. To the rear, the dining area benefits from a side window and sliding doors opening into the conservatory, allowing for an abundance of natural light. The kitchen is accessed from the dining space and is well-equipped with a range of wall and base units, ample worktop space, and a useful breakfast bar. Beyond the kitchen, a practical utility room provides space for white goods and leads through to the conservatory. The conservatory itself is a standout feature of excellent size with glazing to all aspects, creating a bright and relaxing space with views over the garden. It also provides access to a convenient ground floor WC. Additionally, the ground floor benefits from a versatile bedroom (converted from the former garage), complete with a front-facing window and a wet room en-suite, making it ideal for guests, multi-generational living, or home office use. Stairs rise from the lounge to the first floor, where a spacious landing leads to three well-proportioned bedrooms. The upper level is served by a shower room with built-in storage, alongside a separate WC for added practicality.

Externally, the rear garden is a true hidden gem. Thoughtfully landscaped and wrapping around the property, it offers a sense of privacy and tranquillity. Stone steps lead down from the house into a lush, mature garden filled with established planting, a charming water feature, and a garden shed. A winding stone path continues through the greenery, leading to a stream at the foot of the garden creating a unique and peaceful outdoor retreat. The property is fitted with a warm air heating system and, while it would benefit from some modernisation, it offers solid foundations and fantastic scope to create a wonderful long-term family home.
